CYBER CAMP FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FORM

If your family is on a low income and can't afford to pay the fee for the camp, we are happy to provide your child a place in the camp for any amount that you are able to contribute.

The total cost of the 5-day camp is $119 per child but we encourage families who are on a low income to talk to us if cost is a barrier. The fee can be completely waived or significantly reduced according to what your family can afford to contribute.

The Sea to Sky Freenet Association is a non-profit organization dedicated to ensuring all members of the community have an equal opportunity to benefit from computer and Internet technology. We provide these camps to ensure that local kids from families of all income levels have an opportunity to develop and advance their computer skills. At the same time, the camps provide us with an opportunity to raise much needed funds. The money raised from cyber camps directly aids the operations of The Hotspot which is a Community Resource Centre in downtown Squamish run by the Freenet and it's partnering charitable organization the Squamish Volunteer Centre Society. Please speak with us if you would like more information about our organizations and our involvement in the community.
